

Gamelan . . .

is the percussion ensemble of Bali and Java. It is composed of bronze or iron-keyed instruments, gongs, drums, flute, strings and singers. The instruments are tuned in two scales, the 5-tone slendro and the 7 tone pelog, with unusual intervals not found in western music. There are about 100 sets of gamelan instruments in America today.

Gamelan Son of Lion . . .

is the set of instruments built in America by Barbara Benary following the model of the small Javanese village orchestra. The keys are of steel, the gongs are from found objects.

The ensemble of players performs both in Rockland County and in downtown New York City. The repertoire features new music by its composer members and others, combining experimental trends and traditional Indonesian musical inspirations.

Join us at a concert

of music by

Daniel Goode

plus new and traditional pieces from Java, Bali and America

Sunday December 18th at 4 p.m.

Thorpe Intermedia Gallery

Route 340, Sparkill, N.Y.

For information call (914) 354 2349 • Donation requested

This concert is made possible in part by funding from the New York State Council on the Arts and from Meet the Composer, Inc.