Woodstone is written specifically for the Berkeley Gamelan but can be played by any gamelan with similar instrumentation and tuning, which is modeled on the Javanese Slendro (5 note) and Peleg (7 note) systems. There should be a separate set of instruments for each mode (except bonang which is slendro only). The common tones 3 and 6 are significant as the piece modulates frequently from one mode to the other and these tones are used as pivot notes.

Two special, additional tones - 13 and 17 (numbers refer to harmonic series) - are used in Section A. As these notes may not be available in other ensembles, the section is optional and the piece may begin with the rebab solo at the bottom of page 1 (incorporating the kempul and slentem rolls). If no rebab is available, begin with Section B. Note that ⓐ and ⓑ = mode change. ⓐ = note change only.
